

Correction: The statement in the article regarding GPL source code is limited to the initial distribution by the programmer. At the time this article was written, one copy of the RoundUp Gnutella software was provided to Robert Erdley as the law enforcement representative. Erdley was later provided the source code which he then passed on to the FBI for validation testing.